Put up some commonly-seen instructions found in schools or in the community, such as: 'no playing of ball games here', 'only two children allowed in at a time', and so on.

Display the golden rules agreed for your school meal time, in the playground or in the classroom.

Have pictures of people who carry authority in school or in society.

Show some pictures of people not respecting each other, such as spoiling the environment by dropping litter or some fighting each other, and so on.

Use road signs as a theme for this display, for example, respecting the rules the road for the good of all travellers.
