What is SRE?

Sex and Relationships Education aims to give children and young people:

- Self esteem
- Skills for successful relationships
- Emotional literacy
- The ability to make informed choices and minimise risk
- The ability to keep themselves and other people safe
- The opportunity to explore their own attitudes, values and beliefs and develop an individual moral code that will guide their actions.
- A discerning eye for the messages they receive from the media
- The ability to access help and support
- A positive attitude towards their body and sexuality

Effective SRE is embedded in the school curriculum and ethos.

Aims and Objectives of the SRE Policy

Role and nature of sex and relationships education.

The aim of this policy is to provide a working document that gives clear framework within which staff will feel secure to work in.

SRE aims to equip all pupils with accurate, unbiased knowledge about sex and relationships and give pupils the opportunity to acquire life skills that will help them make good use of this knowledge. It will also give pupils opportunities to explore and respect their own and others' opinions, attitudes and values to help them develop their own, individual moral framework. For the pupils that pass through our school we felt the following aims for SRE were particularly important:

- Pupils with better relationship skills
- Pupils prepared for the changes of puberty and that have a good knowledge of their own bodies.
- Pupils with an understanding of prejudice and its negative effects
- Pupils that are capable of seeking help and advice when they need to
- Pupils able to express how they feel
- Pupils that are aware of and have challenged the messages they receive from the media
- Pupils that are aware of the right they have over their own body
- Pupils able to make positive informed choices (that reduce risk)

The SRE programme ensures that pupils will revisit topics so they build upon their existing knowledge and skills throughout the school. It is aimed that SRE is taught through active learning activities as often as possible. Wherever possible, parental involvement in SRE is to be encouraged.

Moral and Values framework

Our school believes that SRE should be delivered within the following moral framework. Our programme promotes:

- Self-respect and respect for others
- Respect and tolerance towards others who may have different backgrounds, cultures, feelings, views and sexuality.
- Taking account of other people's feelings.
- Mutual support and co-operation.
- Accepting the responsibility for the consequences of our own actions.
- The right of people to hold their own views within a framework of respect for others.
- Not imposing our views on other people.
- The right not to be abused by other people or taken advantage of.
- The right to accurate information about sex and relationship issues

Equal Opportunities Statement

Our SRE programme aims to be inclusive of all regardless of gender, race, religion, colour, language, culture, social circumstances, appearance, sexuality, ability or disability.etc.

Our SRE programme responds to the needs of individual pupils and takes pupils, cultures, faiths and family backgrounds into consideration. Pupils with special educational needs are given extra SRE support by SEND staff.

Content/Learning Objectives of the SRE programme

In Key Stage 2 the main focus is on preparing pupils for puberty and the emotions involved in such a major change.

Pupils 'practice' life skills such as assertiveness, self-awareness, decision making and consider all aspects of relationships and what affects them and also provides many opportunities for pupils to explore their own and others' attitudes, values and opinions on a variety of issues.

Organisation of the SRE Programme

SRE is delivered throughout the curriculum and in discrete lessons. Consolidation and extension of SRE is found in science, RE, Literacy and during collective worship. Circle time is also used to deliver SRE.

The teaching methods

Ground rules will be developed during SRE lessons based on respect. The only additional considerations specific to SRE ground rules (as opposed to basic class rules) will be a need to prevent personal questions and the need to explain to children that if a teacher suspects that they or anyone else is at risk from harm, then they will need to tell another adult.

Active learning techniques such as circle time, role play, games, prioritising exercises, paired and group discussion, interviewing and presentations, are used in the teaching of SRE as much as possible. Pupils will also be given many opportunities to reflect on what they have learnt in SRE lessons.

There should be a consultation with the pupils to ascertain their prior knowledge meet their needs and address the issues they are facing.

As far as possible, to prevent stigmatisation of any group of people or any life choices, the pro-choice approach to SRE is adopted. This means that every issue is presented in terms of, 'some people ...and others ...let's explore the effect these choices might have on a person's life.'

Mixed and single gender groups

Most of SRE is delivered in mixed sex groups. However during lessons on puberty, both boys and girls cover the same material but are then given opportunities to discuss what has been covered in single sex groups where they might feel more comfortable doing so.

How the resources were selected

We review any potential resource to ensure that there is no stereotyping, bias or prejudice and that they are suitable for the age group of the audience.

Dealing with sex-related pastoral incidents

Staff know that in dealing with any incident they:

- Don't rush into anything
- Don't panic
- Assess the seriousness of the situation sensitively and sensibly, take everything into account but don't exaggerate or overreact.
- Keep the welfare of the children as the focus.
- Consider the full range of options
- Consider and anticipate both the positive and negative consequences of the teachers' actions.
- Consult, and get support from, other colleagues.
- If necessary, refer to experts such as education welfare officers, social workers or educational psychologists.
- Challenge any homophobic or sexist comments immediately.

Specific Issues Statements

- Language

During all SRE lessons, the correct terms for all body parts and functions will be used. If any slang words are used, the meanings of all words are clarified in a factual way and it is made clear to pupils which words are potentially offensive and that from this point onwards, the correct terms will be used. This aims to prevent bullying of children for not knowing definitions and overtly points out the offensive nature of some words – which also empowers staff to challenge the use of offensive words explicitly.

- Using visitors to deliver SRE

External staff are occasionally used to deliver aspects of SRE but as their availability cannot be relied upon, the SRE programme is taught with no assumption of support from external speakers.

Whenever an external visitor is going to deliver a lesson or activity that is related to SRE, we encourage a planning session with the speaker and a member of the teaching staff to ensure that the input will be worthwhile and also to check the suitability of the content. All visitors are made aware of the SRE policy and all lessons are evaluated by staff.

The visitor will also be supervised by a member of staff at all times, inline with our safeguarding policy.

- Confidentiality

Pupils' confidentiality is respected in all SRE lessons and pupils are made aware of the fact that what they say in SRE lessons will not be repeated to anyone else unless a member of staff suspects that the child or anyone else is at risk from harm.

- Informing parents/carers and parents right to withdraw their child

Before children embark upon a SRE programme, parents are informed by letter of their right to withdraw their child from SRE lessons and given an overview of the topics the child will be covering. However, it is recommended that parents request a consultation to discuss the SRE programme to ascertain if there are any parts their child may be involved in. Parents are also reminded that they can have a copy of the school's SRE Policy on request, from the school office. Parents are also told that they can request to view all teaching resources that will be used in the delivery of their child's SRE.

- Procedures for pupils who are withdrawn from sessions

Provision is made for pupils whose parents wish their child to be removed from SRE lessons to work in another classroom while their class' SRE is being delivered.

- Child Protection Procedures

The school has an appointed member of staff who is responsible for child protection procedures. If a teacher suspects that a child is at risk from harm or neglect, they need to inform this person and record any evidence that supports their concerns.

As part of SRE ground rules teachers need to make it clear to pupils that if they suspect that anyone is at risk from harm, they will need to tell another adult.

- Pupils' Access to Help and Support

In SRE lessons and assemblies, pupils are reminded that if they ever find themselves where something is happening that they feel they cannot do anything about, they are to keep finding an adult to tell until someone does something to help with the situation.

- The approach to potentially controversial and sensitive issues.

All staff are aware that everyone has views on SRE related issues. However, while it is respected that everyone has the right to their own viewpoint, all SRE issues are taught without bias. Topics are presented in a way that considers all viewpoints so that pupils are able to form their own, informed opinions but are also encouraged to respect the fact that others may have quite different viewpoints. Viewpoints that have a negative impact upon another person or group of people such as prejudice are always challenged.

- Dealing with sexually explicit questions

The following policy is in place for dealing with sexually explicit questions during SRE lessons:

- It will be made clear to pupils, by means of ground rules, that personal questions should never be asked by pupils or the teacher.
- A question box will be provided while the SRE programme is being delivered and the pupils will be told that if there are any questions considered too explicit for that age group, they would not be answered. The judgement about which questions could or could not be answered would be based on whether or not it was closely relevant to the programme the school has decided upon.
- Pupils will be told that during any SRE lesson, only questions that relate directly to the SRE lesson being covered will be answered. Any other questions should be placed in the questions box.
- If several children start to ask questions about a particular topic (perhaps due to media coverage) then the SRE programme can be adapted to deal with this issue so as to prevent pupils from becoming misinformed or receive biased information.
- If the child shows inappropriate sexual knowledge, child protection procedures would be consulted.
- If a pupil asks a question relating to SRE issues at any other time, the child will be told that they will learn the answer in SRE. If it will not be answered during SRE time, it will be suggested that the child asks his or her parents/carers.

- Teachers' Embarrassment

If a member of staff is extremely uncomfortable teaching SRE then provision will be made for another teacher that is known to the children to deliver the SRE.

The school feels that this course of action is justified as the member of staff that is uncomfortable with SRE is unlikely to do an effective job or to give positive messages about sexuality and/or body functions.
